Foes Daily Drawing Closer; West Wings on the Move

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 28.—Reports from the battle of Aisne, still in progress after more than two weeks of terrific combat, show that now only a few hundred yards separate the two lines—that of the Allies and that of the Germans. The battling is being carried on at closer and closer quarters, with frequent hand-to-hand fighting.

The frequent bayonet charges of the Germans indicate that the Allies have won ground inside the range of the heavy German artillery.

The war is costing Germany about $20,000,000 daily.

HAWAII HERALD SAYS JEFF MCCARN SHOULD HAVE MORAL SUPPORT

The Hawaii Herald says: No matter what may be said about Jeff McCarn and the alleged attempt he is said to have made to draw a revolver on a man who struck him, there can only be one thought in the minds of those who know McCarn, and who appreciate a fight for decency and clean living. McCarn has taken up the cudgels in behalf of decency and the protection of innocence, and for that deserves the moral support of the whole community.

Winning this game put the Athletics so far ahead of any other team that they cannot now lose the American league pennant even if they should drop every game from now to the end of the season.

HAWAII'S BONDS LOOK GOOD TO COIN COUNTER

Comptroller of Currency Accepts Issue as Security for Additional Circulation

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—Comptroller of the currency accepts the Hawaiian bonds as security for additional circulation under the terms of the Aldrich-Vreeland act.

C. S. ALBERT, Governor Pinkham says that by this move the government presents every inducement possible for the United States to give the Hawaiian territorial bond issue to make it desirable investment for banks or big business institutions in the east.

It means that the United States treasury will accept the Hawaiian bonds of the new issue as security from banks in exchange for the currency which the government is releasing under the Aldrich-Vreeland act.

It is understood that the new currency bill which recently became law, providing for regional banks at various points throughout the mainland, took the place of the Aldrich-Vreeland act, but the change in the system was found to necessitate a much larger issue of currency than had been provided for under the new measure. Hence an issue of some $500,000,000 or more of currency, which had been provided for under the old law, was authorized.

In obtaining this new issue from the treasury, it is presumed the banks now will be privileged to exchange Hawaiian bonds. It virtually places the Hawaiian bond on a par with all other government bonds and is expected to make them even more salable than heretofore.

DIRECTED VERDICT IN THE MCCARN TRIAL IS DENIED BY CIRCUIT JUDGE WHITNEY

ATTORNEY LIGHTFOOT, IN ADDRESS TO JURY, OUTLINES PROPOSED ACTION OF DEFENSE AND DELIVERS TIRADE AGAINST MCCABE—J. W. THOMPSON, ASSISTANT TO DEFENDANT, IS FIRST WITNESS CALLED FOR DEFENSE—FURTHER DECISION FROM BENCH IS NECESSITATED.

"There is, in my opinion, evidence for the consideration of the jury of an attempt forcibly to do a corporal injury to another without authority or justification by law."
"The motion advances but one main contention—that there is no evidence of a pointing of a weapon at the complaining witness and, therefore, that there was no assault."
"It is needless to say that the court will not and cannot pass upon the weight of the evidence in passing on this motion. If there is any evidence more than a scintilla, the case must go to the jury."
"I say that there was evidence, more than a scintilla."
"The motion for a directed verdict is therefore denied."—Portions of the decision handed down by Judge William L. Whitney in denying the motion of Jeff McCarn's counsel for a directed verdict.
*****

Judge William L. Whitney this morning denied to the counsel for and the young girl in the Sylvester Jeff McCarn, who now is on trial in case.

The circuit court on a charge of an assault with a dangerous weapon upon Claudius McBride, a motion that the court instruct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

In his decision Judge Whitney pointed out, among other things, the evidence introduced by the prosecution, tending to show "that the defendant reached for his hip pocket," "that the defendant was at the time armed with a loaded revolver," and "that defendant, grasping the revolver, started to withdraw it from his pocket." He referred to the local statute (S. L. Sec. 2907) which defines assault to be "a malicious attempt forcibly to do a corporal injury to another without authority or justification by law."

Regarding the cases cited by the defense during argument of the motion Saturday to show that Mr. McCarn committed no assault, but was "merely in possession of a revolver," the decision says:

"The court has examined all the cases presented by the defendant to substantiate the contention that the gun must be 'presented.' In none of them, except White vs. State, infra, does it appear that there was any attempt on the part of the defendant to use the gun. It would follow as a matter of reason that the very essence of the crime of assault being the attempt, were the attempt absent no crime could be committed."

The entire morning was given over to the direct and cross-examination of J. W. Thompson, assistant district attorney, who was the first witness to be called by the prosecution. According to Mr. Thompson's story he was in his office when the "affair" between McCarn and McBride commenced, having gone there immediately, he said, after court had adjourned. Asked regarding a revolver in Mr. McCarn's possession he stated that he had seen the district attorney draw his gun, but that he did not remove it from his pocket until he was on the floor.

An interesting point was raised when Mr. Thompson, during cross-examination, was asked by City and County Attorney J. W. Cathcart to tell what he had stated to the federal grand jury when that body was investigating the McCarn-McBride matter. The asking of this question called for a strenuous objection from counsel for the defense and resulted in much consulting of law text books. Judge Whitney will render a decision on this point tomorrow morning. The defense brought out the argument that Mr. Thompson, or any other person having been before the grand jury under oath, could not rightly divulge what he had told the grand jury.

Says McCarn Insulted.
In his address to the jury, following the denial of the motion, Attorney Joseph Lightfoot, one of the counsel for McCarn, spoke in part as follows:

"It is now my duty to outline to you briefly the facts we will rely upon in asking a verdict of not guilty. What I say may not be proof, but it is what we expect to offer as proof."
"We expect to show that in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester during the two days of the trial, May 4 and 5, McBride, appearing for the defendant, had constantly and repeatedly made insulting remarks to Mr. McCarn; that McBride accused McCarn of a felony in that he had accused him of being recalcitrant to his office and abusing the criminal process of the United States for wrongful purposes. He also accused Judge Ashford and Mr. McCarn of entering into a conspiracy which would make a felony."

At this point Attorney Lightfoot declared that on the evening of May 3 McBride had made some insulting remarks to Mr. McCarn.

"We will show you that when Mr. McCarn got down the hallway he saw McBride coming with friends, Bert Bower and others, and that McBride was then half way between the foot of the stairs leading to the third floor and the head of the stairs leading to the street."
"That, upon seeing McBride, Mr. McCarn said something to this effect, 'McBride, you have insulted me for two days. I have appealed to the court and have gotten no protection, so I want to say now that hereafter I hold you responsible for the insults you offer to me.'"

"We expect to show you that Mr. McCarn had a perfect right to address McBride in that way and demand that he cease the villainous remarks which he had been making."
"We will show you by reputable witnesses that McBride replied 'I am responsible for anything I say inside of court or outside, you—cripple.'"

McCarn "Drew" Something?
"We will show you that Mr. McCarn replied, 'You are a cowardly brute.' We will show you that McBride then reached over and put his hat and satchel on a chair and then stood facing Mr. McCarn with his right hand in his hip pocket. We will show you that at that time Mr. McCarn was standing with his hands at his side, and that at no time did he put his hands to his pockets."
